What started as a basic Bejeweled clone that you can play right in your browser is now devoted to your attention, and your money, on the internet, Facebook, your tablet and even on your phone. Although Candy Crush is completely free to play, it can actually become one of the most expensive habits you'll ever have. The developer, King, is able to support a free game like this by selling in-app purchases as extra life and boosters. If you want to climb all the way to the top of the leaderboards without spending a lot of money, it's important to take advantage of all the Candy Crush cheats, tips, tricks and advanced strategies available to you, and we've pulled them all together here. While there are some ways to cheat the system in Candy Crush, it is extremely important to note that services and programs that promise to hack candy crush game or give you free life, boosters, gold, or anything else, are almost always scams. Never download anything, or sign up for any service, from any source that you don't trust, even if it promises to give you free life or allow you to skip Candy Crush levels. Even if one of these services worked, King could ban your account if it was detected and you would lose all your hard work. Natalya Danko/EyeEm/Getty Candy Crush Saga gets punitively difficult as you move higher and higher into the levels, and buying boosters can be very costly. If you want to make the most of your life or get some free life in a pinch, we've pulled together some of the best Candy Crush tips and tricks to help you increase your scores. Start the candy crushing on the bottom. When you create matches near the bottom of the level, you can easily create chain reactions to destroy multiple pieces and get a bunch of points. Making matches at the top is unlikely to have this effect. Don't follow suggestions blindly. If you do not make a move for a while, the game will look for a match and then show it to you by making candies shake. This is especially for younger and newer players, but do not automatically use these matches. A lot of the time, you will be able to find a better match on your own. Try to think ahead whenever possible. If you just do every match you can watch without thinking, you will fail harder levels. Look at how candies are laid out and think about the moves you can make to create a situation where you can make a color bomb or get pieces in place to remove jelly or other threats. Learn how to make, and use special candies. Matching three candy together just removes these candies, but matching four or five creates a special candy. These special candies are key to hitting harder levels. Look for combinations and use the best ones. Combinations, like swiping a color bomb into a striped candy, are extremely powerful. If you can maneuver special candies together, they do a lot more good together than they would alone. Use and make striped candy correctly. Striped candy can have horizontal or vertical stripes. The direction you swipe your finger to make candy matches the direction of the stripes, and the candy will remove a line horizontally or vertically that matches the stripes. Prioritize specific threats at each level. Don't just do some old fights you can. If a level has specific threats, such as licorice or jelly, then take care of them first. If you don't, you may run out of moves before you can clear the level. If the level has chocolate, go after it first. Focus on edge peies. It's harder to make matches on the edges, so if you have threats like jelly on the edge of the board, try to remove them first. Do not move the ingredients to the edges. Since it is more difficult to make matches on the edges, you should also avoid moving ingredients to the edges. Always leave, or move, ingredients into a column where you will be able to drop them on a green arrow. Understand how chocolate works, and deal with it first. Chocolate is a creeping threat that expands to take over multiple squares every time you do a fight anywhere on the board that doesn't remove chocolate. To remove the chocolate, make a match that includes any of the four candies just above, below, on the left, or to the right of the chocolate. Use special candies, like color bombs, if you need it. Look for extra time sessions. If you see candies with a +5 icon, try including them in a match. These are extra time series, and they pop up in timed levels. If you can use one in a match, you get five extra seconds. Use boosters sparingly. You will earn boosters as you play and you can also pay money for them. Save these powerful tools for tough levels, or you won't have them when you need them. Reshuffle especially difficult levels. While the layout and goals of a level are set in stone, the positions of individual candies are completely random. If you start a level and do not like the design of candies, you can pull out without losing a life if you have made some moves. Restart the level and you has better positioning. Finish levels with extra moves left for more points. If you still have moves left when you're done with a level, jelly fish or striped candies will pop up and earn you more points. The more moves, the greater the chance that this will trigger a massive cascade of extra points. Enter the date forward on your mobile device to get free life. If you're having problems and losing your whole life, and you're playing on a mobile device, you can set the date on your device forward one day to get five more lives. Lifewire Candy Crush is a game three game in its heart, which means you play by matching sets of at least three similar candy to destroy them and earn points. It's extremely easy to pick up, but Candy Crush Saga throws a lot of extra sweet stuff into the mix, so it's important to get the basics down if you want to hit the harder levels. In addition to the basic idea of matching three candies, matching more than three candies in certain combinations does something pretty nice. Instead of destroying the candies, they leave behind one of three types of powerful special candies that can help get you out of some sticky situations. Striped candy is the easiest special candy to get. What it does: Removes an entire vertical or horizontal line. Here's how: Match four candies in a horizontal or vertical line. How to use it: Make a match using striped candy. Wrapped candy is great to get rid of troublesome licorice. What it does: Destroys all eight candies around it. Here's how: Match five candies in an L or T-shape. How to use it: Make a match using wrapped candy. Color bomb candy can remove a large part of the level. What it does: Destroys every piece of candy of a color. Here's how: Match five candies in a horizontal or vertical line. How to use it: Swipe it on a candy of any color to destroy any candy that matches that color. Keep an eye on ways to create these patterns, and you'll have a much easier time beating difficult levels. Lifewire Special candies are good at helping manage tough levels, but you can combo them together to achieve even more powerful effects. One of the main secrets to learning Candy Crush is learning what each combination does, so you can maneuver your special candy in place and unleash massive combinations. Here are the best combinations in Candy Crush, and what they do: Striped Candy + Wrapped Candy: Instead of clearing a single vertical or horizontal line, or simply clearing the surrounding eight candies, this combination removes three lines both horizontally and vertically. Striped Candy + Color Bomb: The second most powerful combo, this makes every single candy that matches the color of striped candy into a new striped candy, and they all activate at once. Color Bomb + Color Bomb: The most powerful combo in the game, this literally removes every single item in the level. These are not so powerful, but you can still find them useful. Color Bomb + Wrapped Candy: All All jelly that matches the color of wrapped candy turns into wrapped candy and explodes at once. This is the weakest color bomb combination, but it is still more powerful than a color bomb by itself. Wrapped Candy + Wrapped Candy: Destroys the eight surrounding candies, then do it again after new candy has settled in place. Striped Candy + Striped Candy: Clears everything in both a horizontal and vertical line. Now that you know what all the special candies and combinations can do, let's take a closer look at making the special candies. Color bombs are enormously powerful, so it's important to always be looking for ways to make them. They are not so difficult to make, but they will usually not just fall into your lap. Look for four candies of a single color that are separated by one candy of a different color. Maneuver a fifth candy of the original color in place. Swipe the fifth candy in place to bridge the gap and make a five candy fight. The Kandys can be either vertical or horizontal. This is the biggest fight you can do, which is why it gives such a powerful result. Striped candies are the easiest to make, and they can still be very useful. You can also control the properties of a striped candy depending on how you create it, making it unique. The Kandys can be either horizontal or vertical. If you create a match in a horizontal line, the striped candy will have vertical lines. If you create a match in a vertical line, the candy will have horizontal lines. If you're having trouble remembering it, think of it this way: the direction of the lines will match the direction you swiped your finger to make the match. Look for a set of two same color candy next to each other with third of the same color separated by a single candy of a different color. Maneuver a fourth candy of the original color in place. Swipe the fourth candy in place to bridge the gap and make a four candy fight. Wrapped candy can be difficult to make because you have to look for specific patterns. These candies are made by matching five candies, like color bombs, but they must be in either a T or L formation. Look for four candies in a T or L formation with a single candy of a different color that interferes with the fight. Maneuver a fifth candy of the original color in place. Swipe the fifth candy into place to create both a horizontal and vertical match, with three candy each, at the same time. Candy Crush Saga gives you only five lives to work with. That means if you lose five times, you can't play anymore. You can buy extra lives, pay for unlimited lives for a limited time, or even beg your friends for life. But if you don't want to pay and you've already asked for your friends, the only option is to shut down the game and wait some time to pass. If you play on the Android or iOS version of Candy Crush Saga, you can cheat a little and trick to think that time has passed when it really does not have it. This implies change in time on your phone, but you don't have to mess, jailbreak, or even install anything. The exact steps will be slightly different depending on which device you use to play the game, but the basic idea is that you need to set the time forward with one day. Here's how to get free life in Candy Crush Saga: Play Candy Crush, and run out of life. Navigate to Date and Time. Set the time forward one day. Lifewire Temporarily setting the date forward on your device may affect other apps and games. Remember that when using this cheat. Open Candy Crush and confirm that you have five free lives. Reopen Time Settings and return the day to normal. Open Candy Crush again and you should still have your five free lives. Thank you for telling us! Tell us why! Why!
